FORMER TSA EMPLOYEE SENTENCED FOR THEFT

PHILADELPHIA - Troy Davis, 37, of Willingboro, NJ, a former Transportation Security Officer, was sentenced today to three years' probation for stealing laptops and a video game system from the luggage of airline passengers that he was screening. Davis pleaded guilty to theft from interstate or foreign shipments by carrier and theft by a government employee. As a Transportation Security Officer at Philadelphia International Airport, Davis was responsible for protecting the traveling public by preventing any deadly or dangerous objects from being transported onto an aircraft. He stole five laptop computers and a Play Station game from luggage he was screening for flights scheduled to depart the airport on March 31, 2009 and on an earlier date. Davis pleaded guilty October 19, 2009.

In addition to the probationary term, U.S. District Court Judge C. Darnell Jones, II, ordered Davis to pay a fine in the amount of $5,000.

The case was investigated by the Transportation Security Administration, Office of Inspection and was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney Arlene Fisk.
